AN INSIDE LOOK AT A NEW SERIES FROM DOWN UNDER

Everything about 'Five Mile Creek' has been created on an epic scale designed for great entertainment.

The most ambitious production ever undertaken for cable television premieres this month with a two-hour episode of The Disney Channel's sweeping historical adventure, "Five Mile Creek" (See page 13).

This continuing dramatic series, set during the gold rush days in Australia and filmed on location there, is produced by Henry Crawford, an Australian whose earlier TV successes include the Emmy Award-winning "A Town Like Alice," "Against the Wind" and "Eureka Stockade."

Everything about "Five Mile Creek" has been created on an epic scale designed for great entertainment: production values, cast and crew, a multi-million dollar budget, and the scope of the story about two plucky young women (one Aussie, the other Yankee) working together on the frontier.

Authenticity has keynoted the production from the word go. Cast and crew spent all summer (winter Down Under) filming on outdoor locations 40 miles north of Sydney, retreating to six interior sets on a sound stage in Sydney when weather forced them indoors. A genuine Concord stagecoach was refurbished and repainted by craftsmen at the Disney Studios in Burbank and shipped to Australia. In an opening sequence it arrives by schooner at Port Nelson, a harbor village constructed for the series. The schooner herself, New Endeavor, was borrowed from the Australian Sail Training Association and is identical to those used in the 1860s. The mining camp at Wilga and the homestead at Five Mile Creek were built in the wilderness beyond Sydney. A half-dozen seamstresses were kept busy sewing and fitting costumes throughout the six months of shooting.

The production, like the rugged wilderness stagecoach stop known as Five Mile Creek, is a cooperative effort between two cultures—and that's part of the excitement!

"An important element of the series," says Crawford, "is that it melds American characters into our history naturally, without affecting our cultural position or Americanizing the story."

"Historically, the development of the Australian frontier was ten to fifteen years behind America. Our gold rush occurred in the 1860s and attracted many disappointed prospectors from the States. That's how the American heroine of our story arrived Down Under, searching for her prospecting husband who'd gone off looking for a rich claim on a new continent."

Five Mile Creek" premieres at a most opportune time. The popularity of "The Thorn Birds," "A Town Like Alice," and Australian films such as "Breaker Morant" and "My Brilliant Career" has focused international attention on productions from Down Under.

The origin of the series lies in "The Cherokee Trail," a tale of the old American west by Louis L'Amour. It was produced by Doug Netter for the "Walt Disney" Saturday night anthology show on CBS in 1981. Then Henry Crawford thought of placing its two heroines in Australia and continuing their adventures there. The idea met with immediate enthusiasm at The Disney Channel, and Netter joined Crawford as executive producer of the new series. ♡

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MICKEY

This month Mickey Mouse will take a deep, deep breath and blow out 55 candles on his birthday cake. It's a gala occasion for the little fellow with the big ears, who can look back on the longest starring career in Hollywood.

In "Happy Birthday Mickey" you'll share memorable moments as Minnie, Donald, Pluto, Goofy, Daisy and all his friends help him celebrate. You'll see how Mickey met Pluto and Donald, how he introduced Goofy to Hollywood, and you'll trace his long romance with Minnie Mouse. Highlights of their lives together make this though he made mouselike noises, he did not talk. Walt Disney squeaked for him.

Mickey remained mute through eight more cartoons. Finally, in "The Karnival Kid" in 1929, he spoke. His first words were, "Hot dog!"

Disney's button-eyed brainchild was instantly popular. Mickey starred in 87 cartoons

Mickey made his public bow November 18th, 1928, in "Steamboat Willie," the first animated cartoon with synchronized sound. Al-during the thirties, and inspired a Mickey Mouse Club that met Saturday afternoons for movies and games in local theaters. Its several million members had a secret handshake, special greeting, and a club song entitled "Minnie's Yoo Hoo."

The first TV version of the Mickey Mouse Club, which premiered in 1955, is a sentimental hit on The Disney Channel.

Mickey has made 118 starring films, and guest appearances in many others. He is affluent, and over the years has grown a little fatter. He now wears white tie and tails for his personal appearances at Disneyland, Walt Disney World, Tokyo Disneyland and elsewhere.

Mickey's movies have become classics, esteemed by fans of camp and cinema art alike. But until his debut on The Disney Channel last April, his films had not been seen widely since the fifties. Thus, for a new generation, Mickey and the whole gang—Donald Duck, Goofy, Pluto, Minnie Mouse, Chip 'n' Dale, Horace Horsecollar, Clarabelle Cow, Pegleg Pete—are back for adventures new and old.

A HOLIDAY SPECIAL WITH THE MILLS FAMILY

The Thanksgiving Treasure

(Jason Robards, Mildred Natwick, Lisa Lucas, Barnard Hughes)

Join the Mills family for a memorable Thanksgiving dinner. Daughter Addie, now grown, turns time back to the 1940s when she was a youngster living with her dad and grandmother in a small Nebraska town.

Despite a long-standing feud between her crusty father and a cranky recluse named Renquist, Addie is determined to share the family's Thanksgiving dinner with him. To do so, she has to sneak a portion off the table and smuggle it to his ramshackle farmhouse. That act of kindness changes her life.

Almost against his will, Renquist softens and responds to Addie's outgoing nature. She prizes his neglected horse Treasure, and he lets her care for the animal. Their friendship grows, unknown to Addie's father, until tragedy strikes. The outcome makes a dramatic, enriching statement about human gratitude and generosity.

"The Thanksgiving

Treasure" is the first of two holiday specials about the Mills family, and will be followed by a Christmas reminiscence on The Disney Channel next month.

JASON ROBARDS: FROM REEL LIFE TO REAL LIFE

When Jason Robards appears as head of the Mills household in "The Thanksgiving Treasure," he's playing a part reasonably close to his life today.

After a wild, widely publicized and often misspent youth, Robards got on with his career. Now, whenever acting hasn't called him away, he can be found at home in the Connecticut countryside with his wife Lois and their children, Jake and Shannon.

Robards jumped from high school into the Navy. During his tour of duty he read plays, and was especially attracted to those of Eugene O'Neill. Following his discharge, he became an actor. In 1956 he starred in two O'Neill dramas, "The Iceman Cometh" and "Long Day's Journey Into Night," and went on to become so strongly identified with the playwright's intense, moody, brawling characters that he began to behave like them. Once past that period in his career, he settled into his present position as one of the performing arts' most distinguished practitioners. Robards hasn't deserted O'Neill entirely, though. He's writing an unusual kind of autobiography dealing with the way O'Neill has influenced his life.

50 YEARS OF STARDOM WITH THE KING AND QUEEN OF WESTERN MOVIES

"Happy Trails"

with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans

Get acquainted with the king and queen of the westerns as they are today.

As a curtain-raiser to "Happy Trails with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans," a series of their movies which they'll premiere next month on The Disney Channel, Roy and Dale open their family album to show you photos and film clips going back to the beginning of their careers.

Roy hit Hollywood as a youngster from Duck Run, Ohio, and got his start in the early 1930s with a group of hillbilly singers who later became The Sons of the Pioneers. Dale began as a teenaged radio songstress in Memphis, and landed in Hollywood for her movie debut in 1942.

Since then they've ridden and sung to enduring fame as the Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy of the Prairie. Their films and television shows run into the hundreds, their musical recordings into the thousands, and their fans into the millions. They are still among the most sought-after and revered stars in Hollywood.

Roy and Dale reminisce about their life and friends,

Roy spins yarns as easily as he spins ropes including their frequent co-star George "Gabby" Hayes and their famous film horses Trigger and Buttermilk. Roy also recalls a memorable meeting with Walt Disney.

Welcome To Pooh Corner

You're the guest of honor at a "Pooh Corner Thanksgiving." It's a feast of mirth and music with Pooh and his life-size puppetronic pals as your hosts!

All the preparations are made, but the best laid plans of bear and friends go astray when Eeyore doesn't show up for Thanksgiving dinner. Their food grows cold while they search for him, but what they discover about friendship warms the heart.

Make a date to join them for this very special celebration and all their delightful daily adventures in the Hundred Acre Wood.

Winnie-the-Pooh mixes the fixin's for a gala Thanksgiving dinner he's preparing for all his friends in the Hundred Acre Wood.

New! ANIMAL WORLD

Travel by dog sled and umiak (an Eskimo boat) on St. Lawrence Island in search of walruses. The "Whale Horse," as early Vikings called the walrus, is a rapidly disappearing species, and through careful study scientists hope to bring about its resurgence.

Then enter the swamps of Florida, the alligator's last domain (along with remote parts of China). Watch as members of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission pursue poachers who have nearly wiped out the ancient reptiles.

Bill Burrud's ever-inquisitive camera travels from tropics to tundra in search of rare, extraordinary and endangered species. Along the way you'll learn about man's impact on animal life and what is being done to preserve it.

your youngsters' viewing experiences with YOU AND ME, KID.

Imaginations and muscles both get a workout as you pretend to be monkeys during "Let's Go," stretch and growl like tigers in "It Takes Two," tiptoe through the jungle in "Musical Motions," and even turn yourselves into expanding pies in "Mime Your Own Business."

Put those chores and errands aside and follow Sonny Melendrez, as he leads you and your child through a delightful half hour of songs, games, pantomime, exercises and dramatic play. Every show brings new delights and provides plenty of time for hugs and smiles.

SPECIAL NATIONWIDE RADIO SIMULCAST!

Chicago on the Good Foot

Disney Studio Showcase Presents Jazz From The Windy City

It's South Side, North Side and all around Chicago in this hour-long special tracing the rich musical heritage of the Windy City from early gospel through contemporary blues and jazz.

Produced and directed by Chicago's Terry Stegner, the fast-paced documentary opens with historical films and interviews with common folk describing the migration of blacks from New Orleans during the 1920s. The church was the center of the community, and you'll see early

James Cotton on harmonica

The music never stops while the cameras tour Chicago's famous South Side with blues wailer Junior Wells and swing down to historic Theresa's club for his performance. Then it's off to an artist's loft to hear contemporary jazz clarinetist Jimmy Ellis and avant-garde pace-setters The Art Ensemble of Chicago.

A special nationwide stereo simulcast with National Public Radio member stations airs just once, on Saturday, November 12, so mark the date for an hour of inspiring gospel, jammin' jazz and soulful blues honoring a uniquely American art form. November 12, 16, 23, 26, 28

Blues guitarist Pete Special goes to town gospel performers as well as the contemporary group, The Victory Travelers.

Centerpiece of the program is a concert at Chicago's Park West club emceed by Purvis Spann "the blues man," a longtime local radio personality. The concert features blues great James Cotton on harmonica, gritty songstress Koko Taylor, the Legendary Blues Band and singer Big Twist and the Mellow Fellows.

Keyboard virtuoso Sid Wingfield does his bit

TURN ON NPR NOVEMBER 12!

In a first of its kind cooperative effort, The Disney Channel has donated simulcast rights to "Chicago On The Good Foot" to National Public Radio member stations so that the stereo broadcast on November 12 can reach as wide an audience as possible.

Not all NPR affiliates will participate and some areas may not carry both parts of the simulcast, so consult your local listings for information.

SPECIAL TWO-PART PREMIERE!

FIVE MILE CREEK

(Louise Caire Clark, Rod Mullinar, Liz Burch, Michael Caton, Priscilla Weems, Martin Lewis, Gus Mercurio, with Jay Kerr as Con Madigan)

Head for all the excitement, danger and adventure that crackled around the Australian gold fields of the 1860s in this two-part premiere of "Five Mile Creek," The Disney Channel's exclusive new series.

Five Mile Creek is an isolated coach stop for the Australian Express, a stage line linking the harbor town of Port Nelson with the mining camp of Wilga. The hostelry there is run by Kate Wallace (Liz Burch), an Australian, and Maggie Scott (Louise Caire Clark), who arrived recently from San Francisco with her small daughter Hannah (Priscilla Weems).

Another newcomer is Con Madigan (Jay Kerr), the best stagecoach driver in California, who has brought an American-made Concord coach to begin his job as partner and co-operator of the Australian Express with Jack Taylor (Rod Mullinar).

To get their fledgling line in service, these two

Kate Wallace and Maggie Scott forge a partnership

hardy coachmen must overcome aggravating obstacles. At the same time, Kate and Maggie are experiencing similar difficulties in trying to establish their little outpost. But progress is made as the Australians and Americans work together.

New problems—including mystery—arrive with each coachload of passengers. Supplies at Five Mile Creek begin disappearing at night. The mystery is solved in a surprising manner by Hannah Scott.

This two-hour program opens the first series made exclusively for The Disney Channel. Two more episodes will be shown next month.

November 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 20, 22, 24

Gumby, Pokey and their pilgrim friend are imprisoned after losing a hearing at the court of King James in 1620

While Gumby and his pony pal Pokey didn't come over on the Mayflower, they were right on hand to meet her.

For this Thanksgiving holiday special, you're in on the fun and fractured history as Gumby helps bring the ship to shore and learns why the Pilgrims came to America.

Later Gumby and Pokey go to the rescue when they hear the Pilgrims are almost out of food.

As time and events roll on, the two friends are chased by the British Gen. Gage while trying to get a message to Paul Revere. Finally they're able to help in the Revolutionary War by bringing 3,000 Gumburgers to Gen. Washington's army. Gumby also serves as a spy for Washington, but almost gums up the campaign by calling him from the middle of enemy territory.

DAVY CROCKETT AND THE RIVER PIRATES

(Fess Parker, Buddy Ebsen, Jeff York)

Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier, is back!—this time as a folk hero embroiled with legendary Mike Fink, king of the river.

Based on colorful characters from American folklore, these new adventures take Mike and Davy on a wild keelboat race down the Mississippi to New Orleans. Later they team up to wipe out river pirates along the broad Ohio.

Although the story is fictional, it was filmed in actual locations including the notorious Cave-in-Rock where pirates lured river travelers to their doom.

The dangerous keelpole fight was staged aboard

Davy Crockett, Georgie Russel and their hardy crew wage a keelboat race against Mike Fink, king of the river two keelboats on the fast-flowing Ohio. Actors costumed as river rascals lunged at each other with the heavy 14-foot poles. They tumbled into the water on all sides, and continued their film fight even as the swift current carried them far down-river. Rescue boats picked them up when the scene was over.

Attention! Cartoon lovers report for duty. This month Donald Duck gets down to basics (training that is) in "Donald Gets Drafted" and "The Old Army Game."

With Pete as his Sergeant, there's no time out for Donald. He's up to his pinfeathers in foxholes and trouble until he ends up on permanent KP.

George Plimpton hosts these and other animated comedy workouts. Line up for laughs as Pluto and a gopher battle over a buried bone in "Bone Bandit," Mickey mistakes a parrot for a crook in "Mickey's Parrot," and a cat saves a canary in "Figaro and Frankie."

MOSBY'S marauders

(Kurt Russell,
Jack Ging,
James MacArthur,
Peggy Lipton)

Here's a rousing, romantic Civil War adventure for everyone!

Fifteen-year-old Willie Prentiss (Kurt Russell), too young to serve in the Confederate army, crosses enemy lines and is befriended by a Yankee corporal (James MacArthur).

Wounded and mistaken for a Rebel spy, Willie es-

Yankee corporal James MacArthur blazes away at rampaging Rebels capas and eventually becomes a scout for the commando-style raiders led by the legendary Grey Fox of the Confederacy, Lt. John Singleton Mosby (Jack Ging). Willie turns matchmaker when his cousin Oralee (Peggy Lipton) is romanced by his Yankee pal.

These hair-raising, frequently humorous hijinks are based on the real exploits of Mosby's raiders, those "hellcats on horses" who were the scourge of the Shenandoah valley toward the end of the war. November 3, 5, 8, 13, 17, 19, 22, 26, 28, 30

"Man of Wheat"

America is still a land of opportunity. Meet Glenn Miller, a 75-year-old independent wheat farmer from eastern Washington, who built an 800-acre rented spread into a 20,000-acre family-run farm.

His story is one of initiative, hard work and determination. As a boy, Miller worked the family farm barefoot, missing school so often it took him 10 years to complete six grades. Though he did finish his education and became a teacher, the farm was always his first consideration.

Huell Howser

"A Small World"

Children's creativity and imagination are celebrated in this short, snappy display of artwork from young Disney Channel viewers set to the tune of "It's a Small World."

Watch for it following

WELCOME TO POOH CORNER on weekday afternoons and weekend mornings. (See page 9.)

For details on how youngsters can submit drawings see "Donald's Channel Chatter" (page 23).

"Woodland Cafe"

Insects dance and applaud a floor show at "The Woodland Cafe," a popular night club for bugs, in this chirpy sylvan Silly Symphony cartoon. Enjoy it after "Mother Wore Tights" (See page 13).

"Horsevaulting"

Human-interest reporter Huell Howser introduces you to "horsevaulting," the sport of balancing on horseback. Relatively new to the United States, it has long been popular in Europe. Instructors and members of the Mt. Etna Vaulting Club in Santa Clara Valley, Calif., show you how it's done. Appears following "Justin Morgan Had a Horse" (See page 20).

"Thoroughbred"

The birth, bloodline and colthood of a future champion are depicted in this featurette about a thoroughbred racehorse.

The tiny foal you see will grow up to be a winner. He's born and learns to stand in the winter, nurses and grows in the spring, and begins his full training in the fall.

THE ACTS

SPECIALS, FEATURETTES, THAT ARE TOO GOOD TO MISS!

"Bud's Garage"

Drop into Bud's garage, and learn how to make fun things from odds and ends.

Bud is big, good-natured, and a kid at heart. He loves to tinker, and his imagination's always busy. This month he shows you how to build a robot out of junk and construct a geodesic dome of styrofoam cups. As time goes on he'll teach you how to create lots of other amusing, enchanting, educational novelties. "Bud's Garage" is featured with "The Kid from Brooklyn" (See page 18).

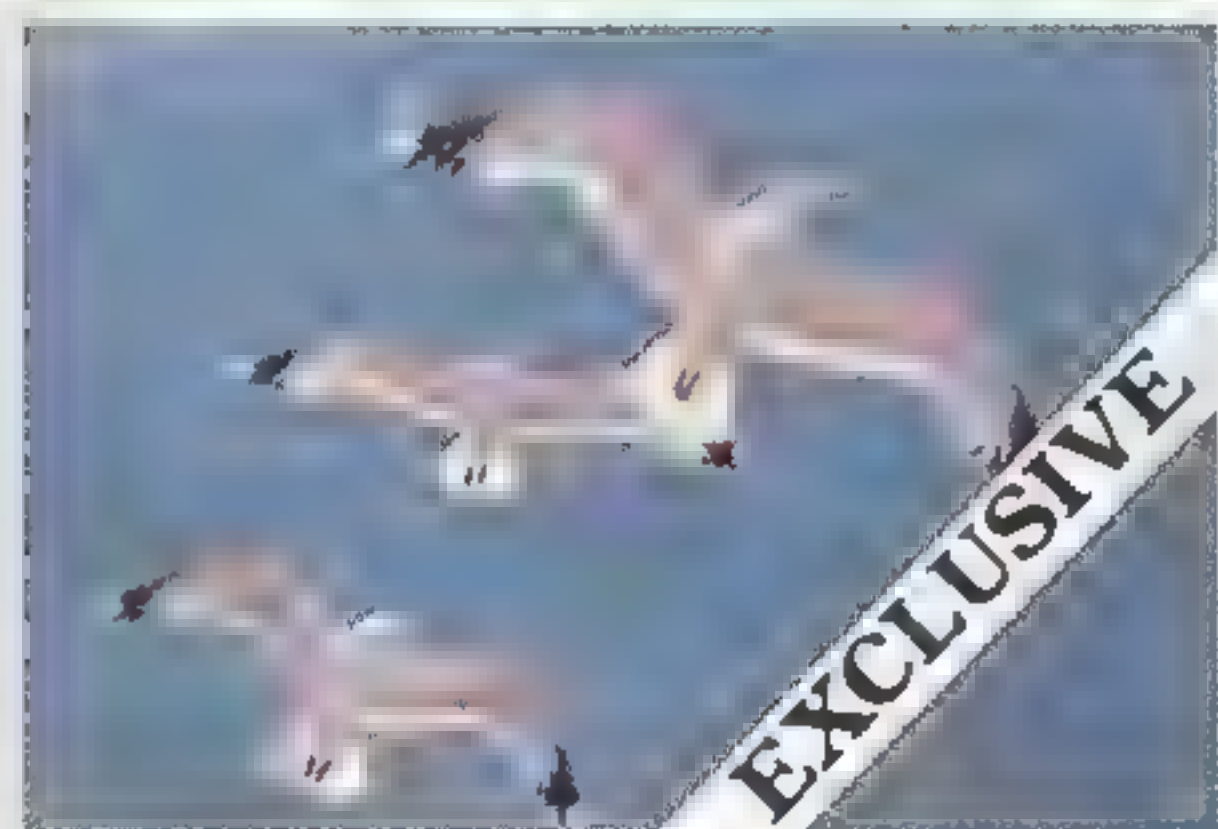

Marshall Efron is the genial host of "Bud's Garage"

"Water Birds"

You'll marvel at the delicate, exciting beauty of these seaside and marshland denizens, in a film climaxed by a striking musical bird ballet.

Amy

(Jenny Agutter, Barry Newman, Nanette Fabray)

Amy Medford, an independent young wife, is determined to make a life of her own by teaching deaf children to talk—an ambitious undertaking in 1913, when sign language was the only accepted form of communication for them.

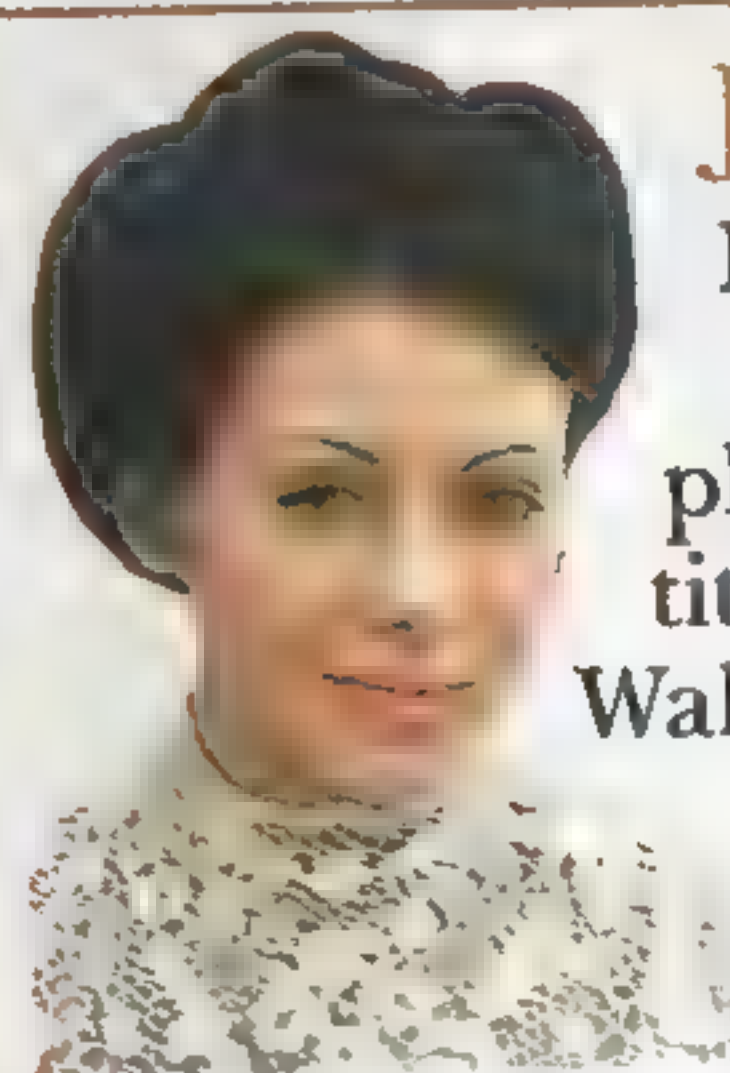

The courageous Amy encounters tragedy, travail and triumph.

Amy begins teaching deaf student to speak

To insure that the sensitive nature of this story would be presented authentically, Amy's hearing-impaired pupils were played by students from the California School for the Deaf, in Riverside. November 1, 3, 6, 10, 12, 15, 19, 22, 24, 27

JENNY AGUTTER: STILL IN LOVE WITH "AMY"

For Jenny Agutter, playing the title role in Walt Disney's poignant drama "Amy" was a rare experience she recalls with great fondness. "First of all, it was a lovely role about a woman really doing something," Jenny said from London, where she is finishing an 18-month stint with the Royal Shakespeare Company. "And the dedication was much greater than normal on a movie set. Working with the deaf children was an extraordinary challenge and a delight."

Jenny's early ambition was to be a ballet dancer. When Walt Disney cast her as a child dancer in "Ballerina," her acting career was launched instead. Since then it's been non-stop work on stage, BBC and American network television, and in such international films as "Logan's Run," British Academy Award winner "Equus," and "An American Werewolf in London." But "Amy" holds a special place in her heart. "I'm so glad to hear that Disney Channel viewers will be seeing the film. It's something I'm very proud of, something I learned a great deal from."

By year's end she'll be back in Los Angeles to continue her film career. Rewarding as the months in her native London have been, Jenny looks forward to returning to her permanent home in California.

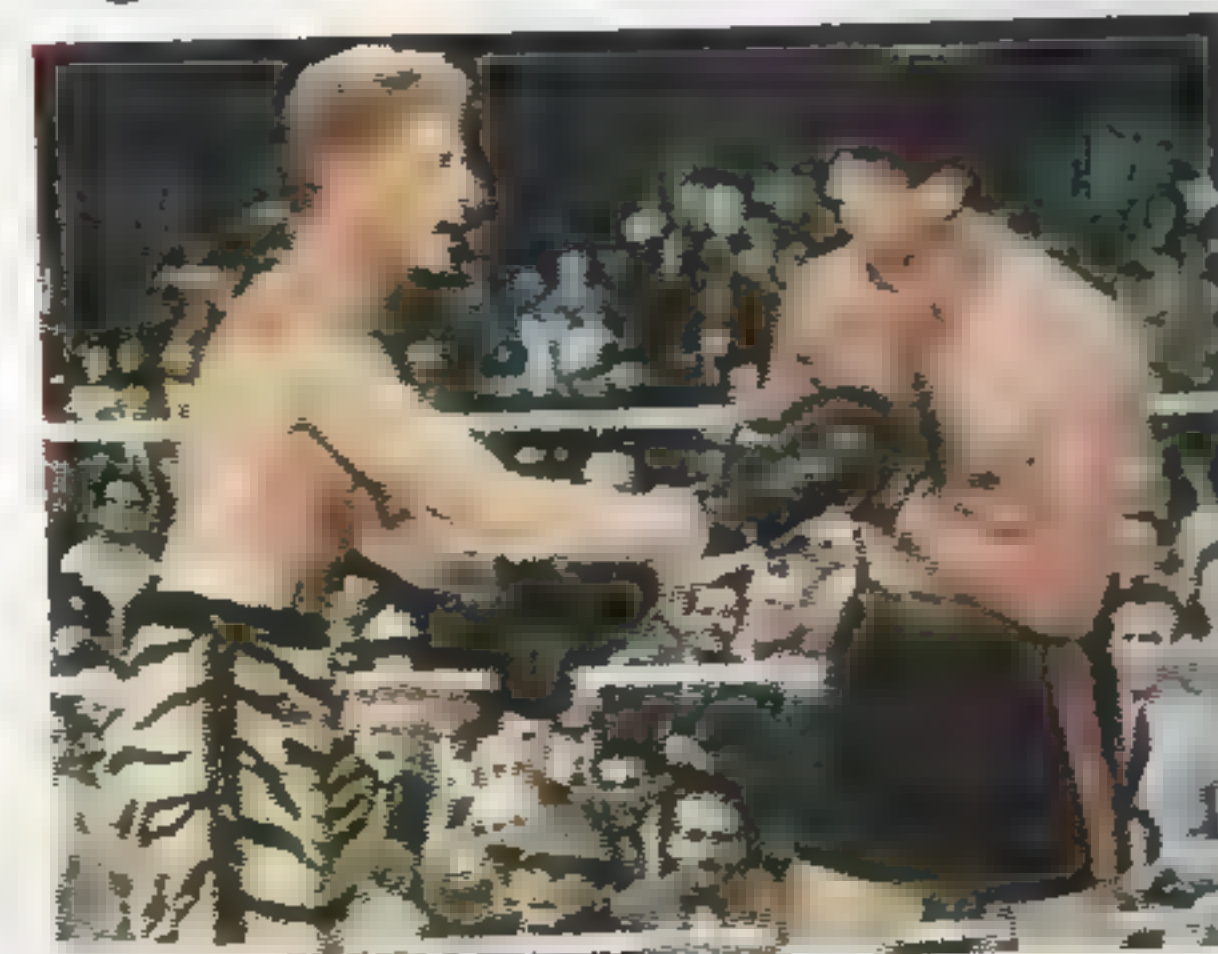

THE KID FROM BROOKLYN

Dr. Syn

alias The Scarecrow

(Patrick McGoochan, George Cole, Tony Britton, Michael Hordern)

Stalk the misty Kentish coast with the terrifying masked horseman known as The Scarecrow, a daring smuggler and bane of tyrannical George III.

Patrick McGoochan plays the double role of Dr. Syn—by day the modest vicar of Dymchurch, by night The Scarecrow—dedicated to thwarting the king's oppressive, unjust taxation policies. By smuggling goods past the crown's tax collectors, The Scarecrow and his rebel band bite deeply into royal revenues.

This high-tension thriller was adapted from Russell Thorndike and William Buchanan's novel based on the actual exploits of 18th century smugglers called the Hawkhurst

Scarecrow rides again

Gang. It was filmed on location along the Sussex-Kent coastline.

the legend of LOBO

(Told in song and story by Rex Allen with the Sons of the Pioneers)

Answer the call of the wild with Lobo, a gigantic grey wolf who outwits ranchers and hunters in his heroic struggle to survive in the wilderness and keep his pack together.

Lobo learns early of

Lobo keeps an eye out for human troublemakers human ways when his mother and father are killed by ranchers. He becomes a legend for his cunning and courage.

This semi-documentary film is based on tales of a real wolf who roamed the Currumpaw Valley of New Mexico during the 1890s, a time when wolves had been hunted, poisoned and trapped to near extinction. Tirelessly tracked by ranchers and bounty hunters, the real Lobo managed to evade and escape every trap ever set for him. The thousand dollar price on his pelt was never claimed.

THE AMERICAN VOTER "Stop Thief!"

(Howard Da Silva)

Two days before the city election of November 1871, a newspaper cartoonist named Thomas Nast ran a scathing caricature of crooked New York politicians and asked his readers, "What are you going to do about it?" The voters answered with ballots. The rascals were swept out and their boss, William Marcy Tweed, was indicted for grand larceny.

You'll hail the power of the polls in this reenactment of "Boss" Tweed's downfall. You'll also be appalled at the enormity of his thefts.

Thomas Nast took after Tweed in 1869. Four months

Nast's "Stop Thief!"

Da Silva as Boss Tweed scorns American voters

before the 1871 election, Tammany lawyers offered the New York Times $5 million and Nast $500,000 to stop their attacks. But Boss Tweed was up against incorruptible opponents, and he went to jail.

Donald's center stage in his very own all-cartoon show, sharing the limelight with your favorite Disney animated stars!

The fun begins when "Mr. Duck Steps Out." Donald's nephews disrupt his tryst with Daisy, proving again that the course of true love never runs smooth.

In fact nothing goes right for Donald, who can find trouble with his eyes closed. In "Sleepytime Donald" he walks to Daisy's house in his nightshirt. And in "Donald's Dream Voice" he takes pills to improve his voice, with disastrous results.

Pluto has his problems too, trying to keep a salami from a determined bulldog in "Pluto's Purchase" and trying his paw at puppysitting in "Pluto's Quin-puplets."

Goofy and Jiminy Cricket star in two educational cartoons about health. In

Goofy just can't stop smoking

"No Smoking," Goofy unforgettably demonstrates the effects of tobacco addiction. "Jiminy Cricket Presents You—The Living Machine" shows you how to keep in shape through proper nutrition, exercise and rest.

MICKEY'S Just for Kids SECTION

Hi there!

Guess why I like November! Because of Thanksgiving, of course! And because it's my birthday month, too!

You're invited to join in all The Disney Channel festivities! There's a show in my honor (isn't that nice?). It's called "Happy Birthday Mickey," and it's a lot of laughs. Gumby's back with a special Thanksgiving program, and the Mills family want you to share their good times in "The Thanksgiving Treasure."

You can have fun with "Just for Kids," too! Learn the sign language alphabet, build a Davy Crockett keelboat and make some Disney place cards for your Thanksgiving table.

Happy holidays to you! I'm thankful you're my friends!

Your Pal,

MICKEY MOUSE

Here's a riddle for you! What do ducks like most about Thanksgiving? (That they're not turkeys!)

All joking aside, I'm one duck who's happy because I have friends like you who send me lots of great letters and pictures!

If you want to submit your picture for possible use on A SMALL WORLD or in The Disney Channel Magazine draw it in color on white paper (turned sideways) and write your name, address, age and the name of your cable system. Keep me smiling by remembering to tell me your address so I can write you back.

TALK WITHOUT SAYING A WORD!

People have used different sign languages for thousands of years. For many years, people believed that the deaf could only communicate through sign language. Today we know that's not necessarily true. Watch "Amy" November 1, 3, 6, 10, 12, 15, 19, 22, 24, 27 for a thought-provoking story about a woman who helps prove that the deaf can speak with their voices as well as their hands. Practice signing "Happy Thanksgiving" to your friends.

FIND IT IN THE LIBRARY!

Ride the high road to adventure this month with "Dr. Syn" and "Justin Morgan Had a Horse" on The Disney Channel. Then feast your imagination on the thrilling books they came from!

DAVY CROCKETT'S PAPER BAG PIONEER VILLAGE!

Have fun making a cabin and a keelboat like those you'll see on "Davy Crockett and the River Pirates" November 1, 4, 7, 10, 12, 16, 20, 23, 27, 28. Ask an adult to help you measure, cut and fold accurately.

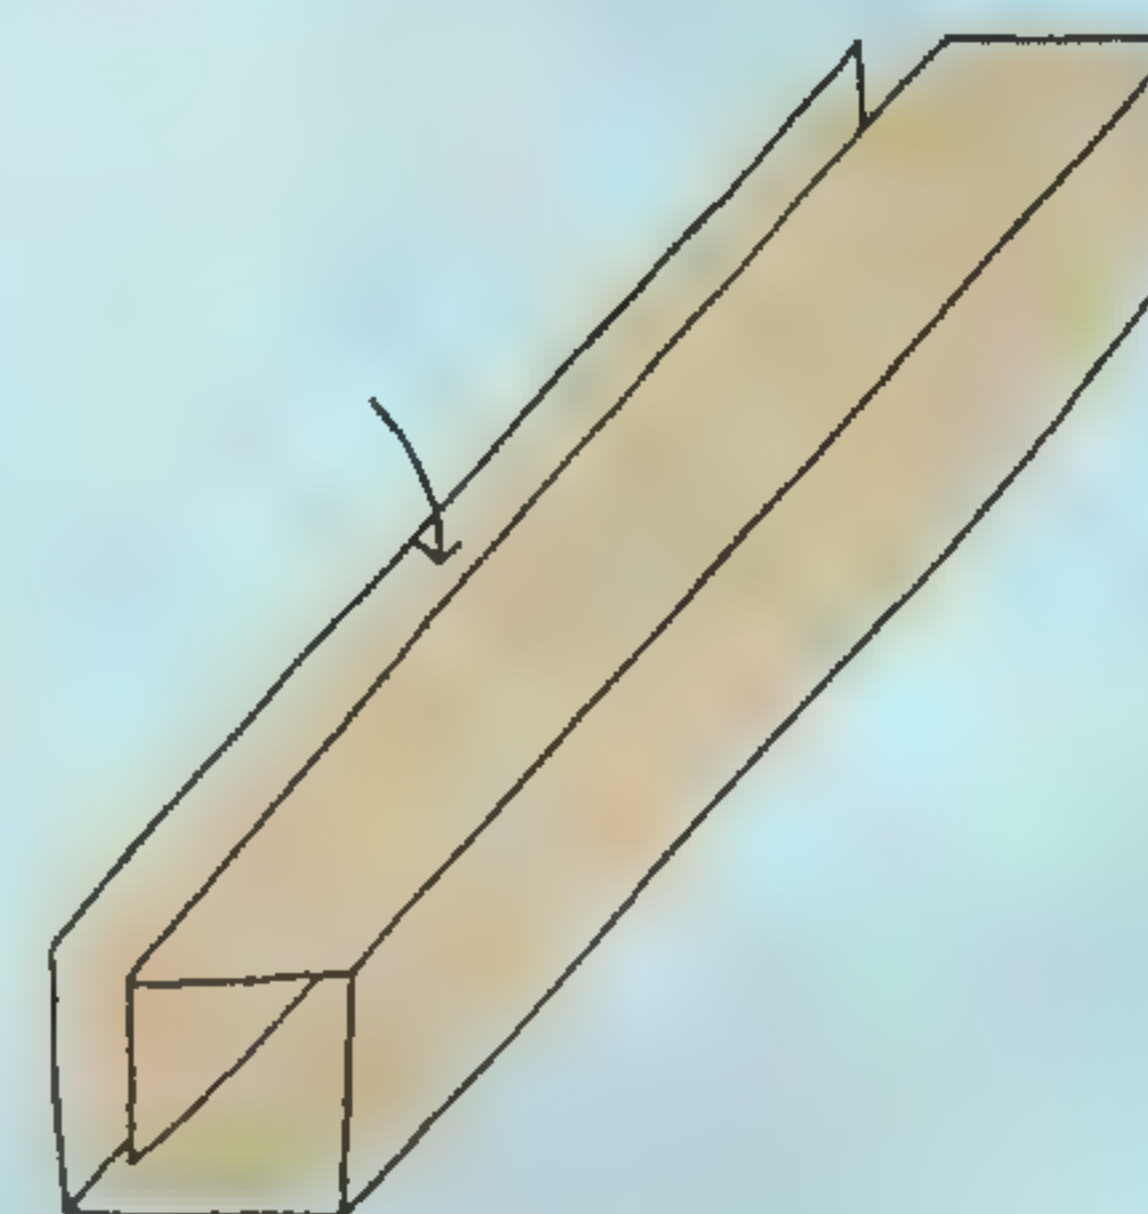

TO MAKE LOG CABIN

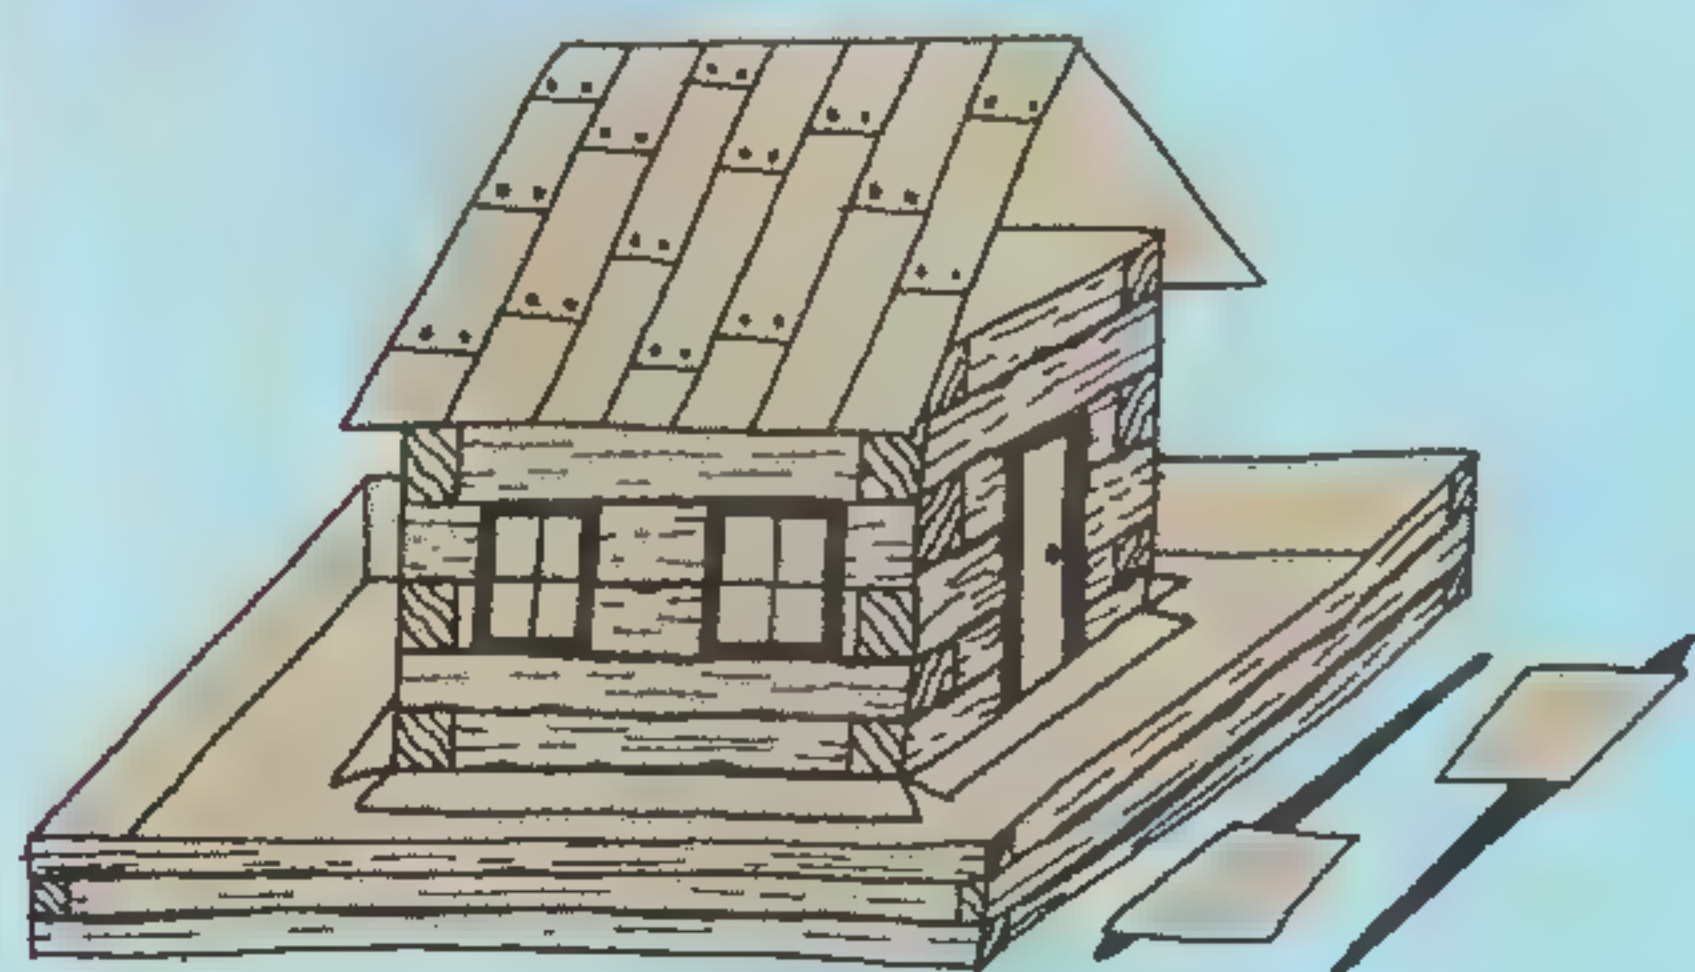

- 1) Cut grocery bag apart and flatten. Draw the shape shown above following the measurements closely.
- 2) Cut on solid lines and fold on dotted lines. Glue side and roof tabs as shown.

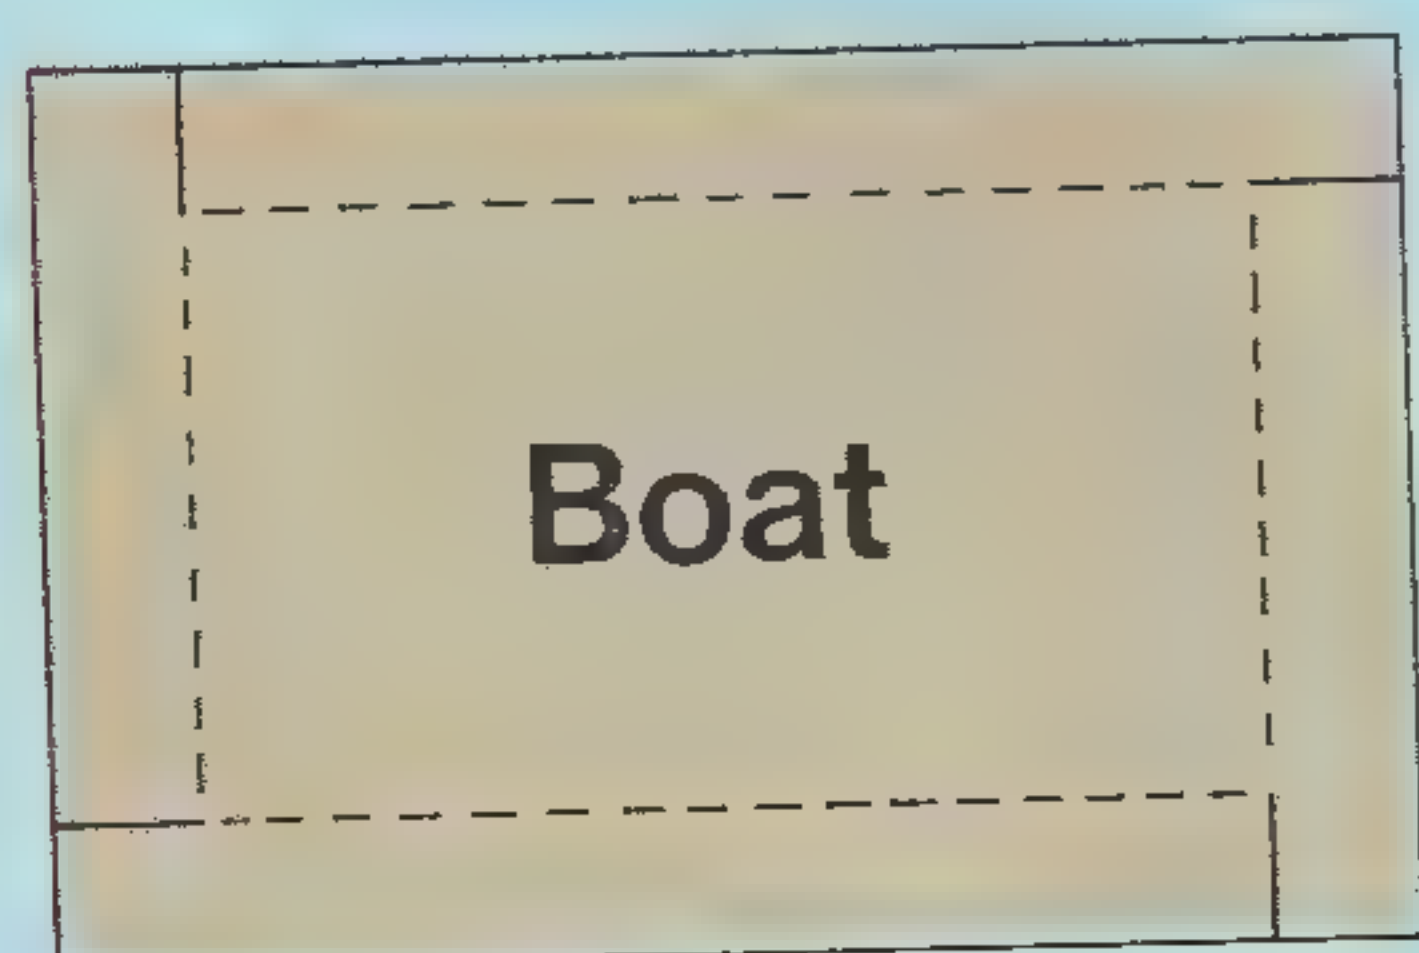

- 3) Cut a strip of paper and fold as shown to make chimney. Tape or glue to cabin.
- 4) Paint or draw lines with markers to look like logs. Cut out doors and windows if wanted.

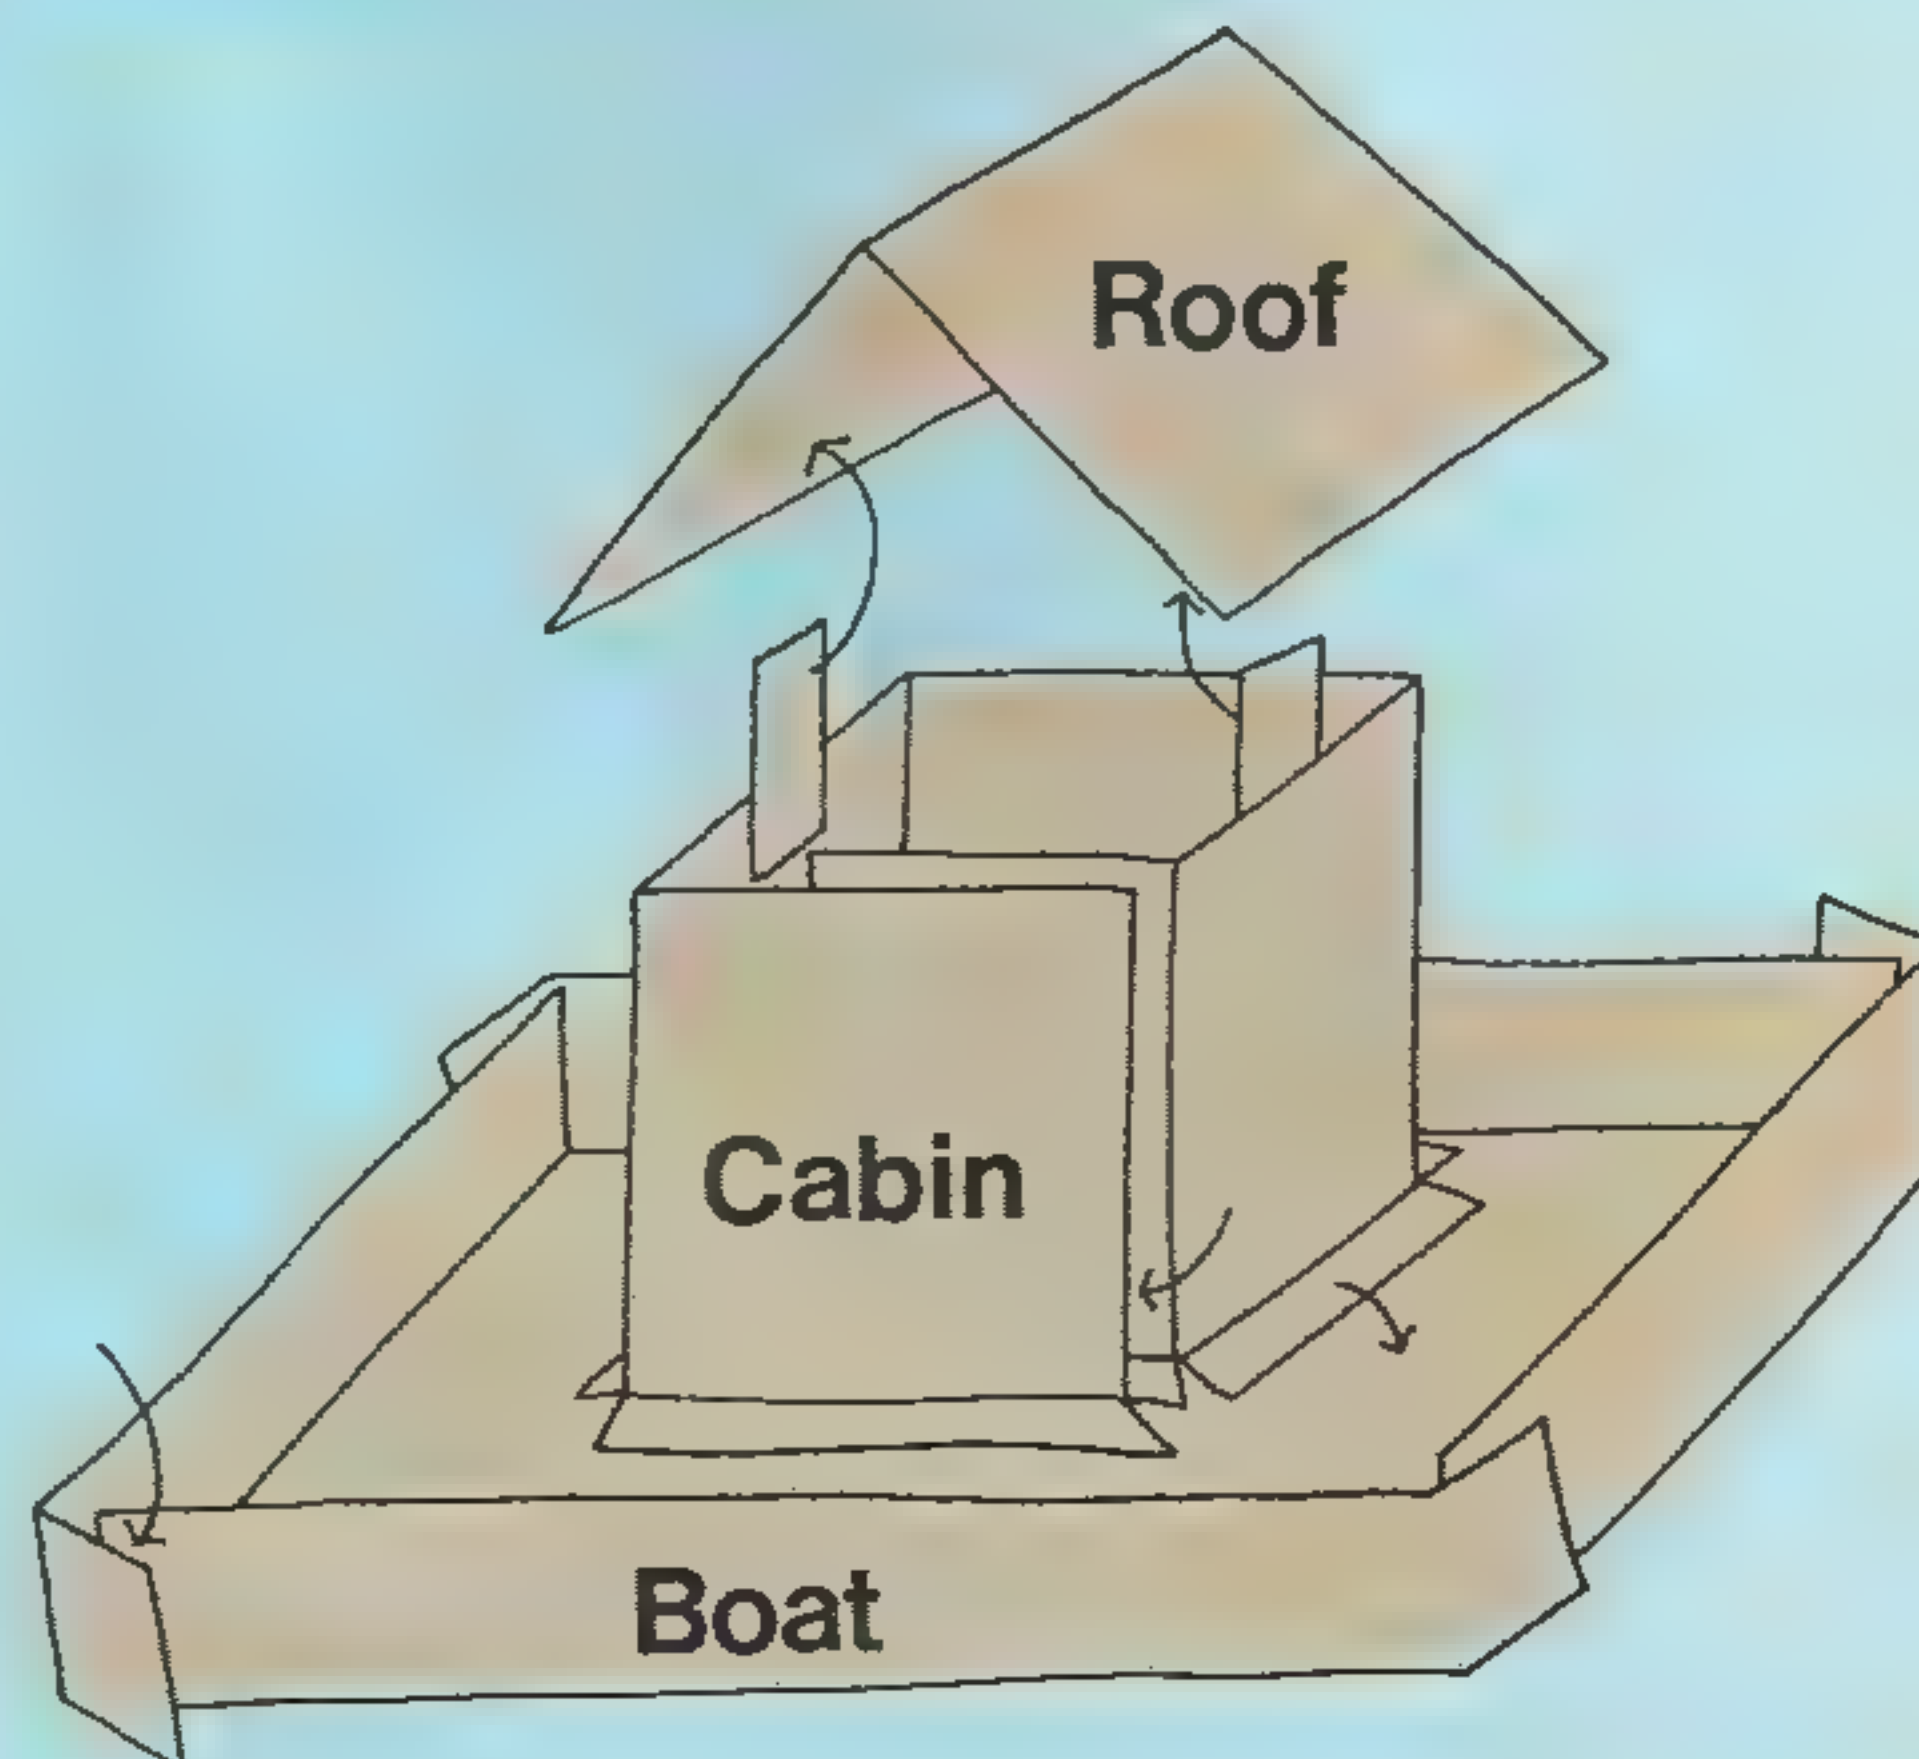

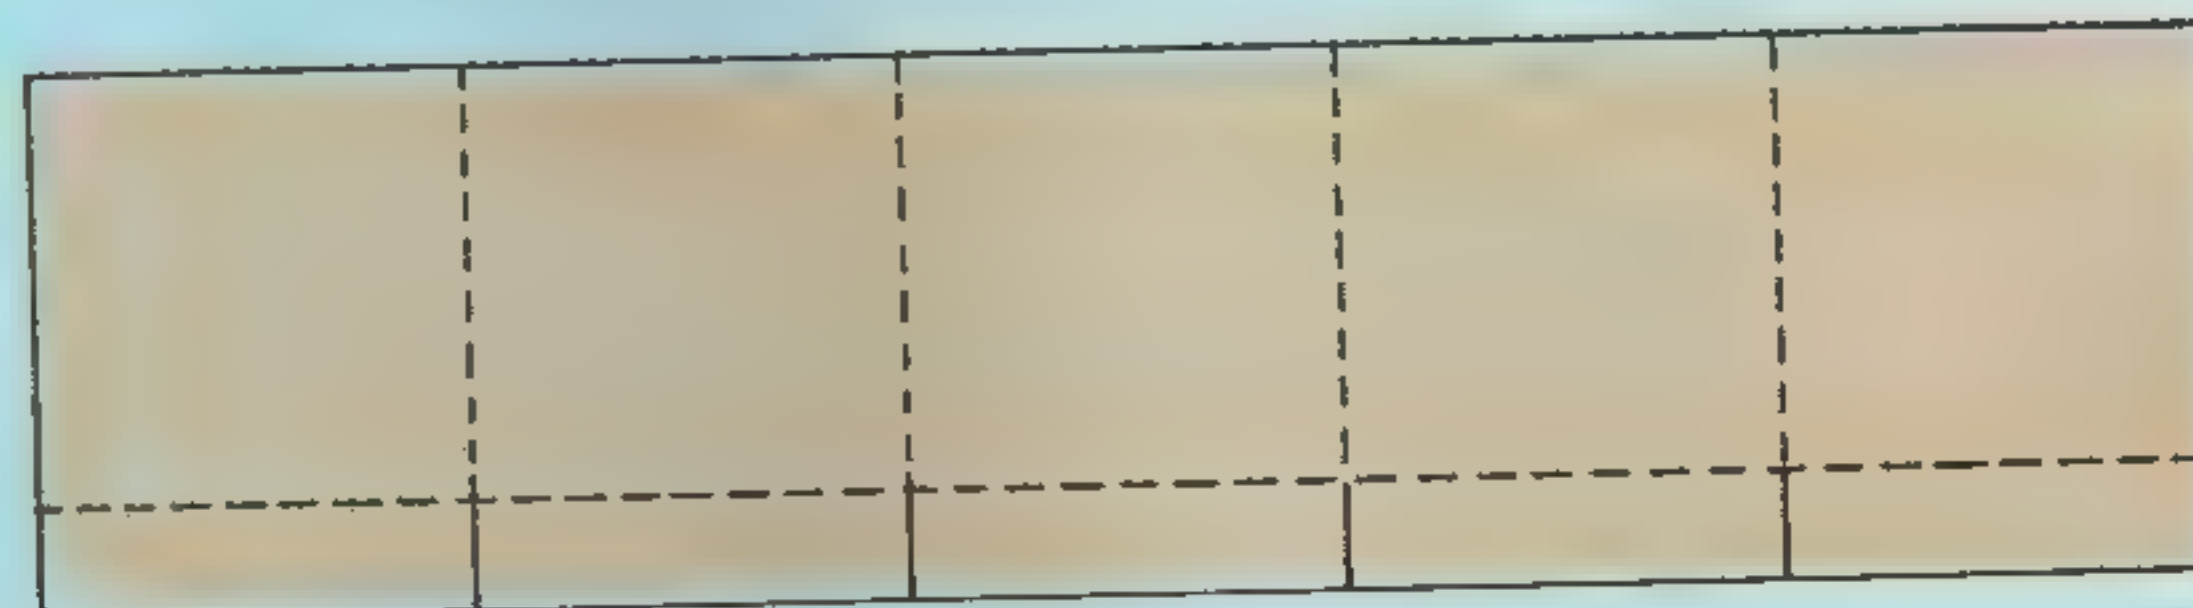

TO MAKE KEELBOAT

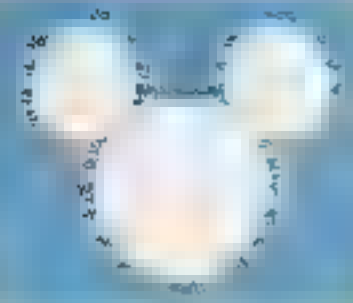

- 1) Cut a rectangle 7 inches long by 6 inches wide from grocery bag. Cut and fold as shown below.

Cabin

- 2) To make cabin, cut a rectangle 10" x 2 1/2". Fold evenly five times and tape sides together. Cut another rectangle 3" x 8" for roof and tape to cabin as shown. Tape cabin to center of boat.
- 3) Cut small squares of paper, fold around toothpicks and glue to make oars.
- 4) Waterproof boat by "painting" it with a thin layer of household glue.
- 5) Paint or draw lines with markers to look like logs. Cut out doors and windows if wanted.

We're All Ears

INFORMATION PLEASE!

Recently, I watched EPCOT Magazine. A book named "Disneyana" was mentioned on the show. How can I get the book?

Mrs. T. Perrin
Long Beach, Ca.

The book you're interested in is called "Disneyana: Walt Disney Collectibles" by Cecil Munsey. It was published by Hawthorn Books in 1974. It is now out of print, so check used books stores or libraries to find a copy.

I am a long-time fan of Gumby and his horse Pokey, and have arranged to receive The Disney Channel because of their addition to the programming.

Could you answer some questions about the show for me?

- 1) Who does Gumby's voice?
- 2) When did the series originally run and for how long?
- 3) Who was Gumby's primary antagonist?

Corey Yerkes
Guilford, Ct.

We're pleased to have Gumby fans among our viewers. Dallas McKennon did Gumby's voice. Art Clokey, Gumby's creator, did the voice of Pokey, speeded up. The series began in 1955 and continued until 1972. Gumby's arch foes were "The Blockheads."

PG RATED FILMS QUESTIONED AND EXPLAINED

We are thoroughly enjoying The Disney Channel.

However, I see by the previews that some of the movies are not Disney. We want our children to watch programs that are decent and not full of cursing. We chose The Disney Channel for its quality. I hope it doesn't change.

Mary Jo Asmun
Marion, Ohio

While most of our programs are "G" rated, we also believe that there are many worthwhile films conveying important ideas about responsibility, freedom, etc., which may be rated "PG" due to their intensity of action, or realism. ("Night Crossing" and "Tex" are two examples.) You will be alerted to such films in this section of The Disney Channel Magazine.

Every "PG" film you'll ever see on The Disney Channel has been closely scrutinized and edited if necessary by a special department here.

VIEWERS ASK FOR SPECIAL FILMS

When I was little I saw a show on "The Wonderful World of Disney." I don't remember the name, but it was about the Vienna Boys Choir. I would love to see it again.

Thank you for a fine channel and an end to yelling "Turn off that TV!!!"

Barbara A. Fifer
Oceanside, Ca.

I must admit I'm disappointed that there is so little on about Walt Disney World. We really expected to see more about it.

A special thanks for a network for the family. It's nice to be able to let the children watch TV without worrying about what's coming on next.

Margaret F. Bullock
Biloxi, Ms.

Requests for specific films such as "Almost Angels" are routed to our scheduling department. This film is tentatively scheduled for next year on the channel. For viewers who'd like to see more of Disneyland and Walt Disney World, there will be a Christmas Special from the parks next month.

The Disney Channel welcomes letters from viewers about programming and The Disney Channel Magazine. Letters for publication should be addressed to The Disney Channel Subscriber Services, 4111 W. Alameda, Burbank, Ca. 91505. Letters must include name and city of sender. All materials become the property of The Disney Channel. Letters may be edited for reasons of space and clarity.

Dear Friends,

Right now everyone at The Disney Channel is talking about FIVE MILE CREEK, the new 13-part dramatic series premiering this month, and I want to let you in on the excitement.

To begin with, FIVE MILE CREEK is just plain good entertainment you and your whole family will enjoy. It's full of adventure and some very likeable characters. It's a pioneer story with remarkable warmth. The twist is that the setting is Australia, where some of this year's most popular movies and TV shows have been produced. FIVE MILE CREEK was filmed completely on location there, giving you a fascinating look at this intriguing country and its colorful past. It's perfect family entertainment.

And speaking of families, remember sitting around the table at Thanksgiving listening to the grown-ups talk and feeling comfortable and secure? That's exactly how you'll feel when watching "The Thanksgiving Treasure," another program I'm sure you'll especially enjoy.

Thanks for all your comments, opinions, thoughts and ideas. Stay in touch.

Sincerely,

Linda

Exploring the Archives

Dave Smith established the Walt Disney Archives in 1970. Its collections are as varied as the activities of Walt Disney Productions.

I remember hearing a September date for Mickey Mouse's birth. How did you establish November 18?

T.S.J., St. Paul, Minnesota

Many happy returns, Mickey

Back in the 1930s special promotions were held in theaters for Mickey's birthday, and convenient Saturday dates were arbitrarily chosen so the theaters could attract large audiences of children.

But the "birth" of Mickey Mouse was always tied in to the premiere of "Steamboat Willie," his first film seen by the public, at the Colony Theater in New York on November 18, 1928. So that's the date we now use for Mickey's birth (see page 6).

While vacationing in Italy, I saw a Mickey Mouse cartoon starring "Topolino."

How come?—R.T., Kent, Conn.

Mickey's name differs from country to country. In Italy he's Topolino, Greece Miki Maous, Hungary Miki Eger, Sweden Musse Pigg, Finland Mikki Hiiri, Norway Mikke Mus.

How many different Davy Crockett films did Walt Disney make?

P.D., Pittsford, N.Y.

The Davy Crockett shows, one of TV's first mini-series, aired as three episodes in

Georgie and Davy track river pirates

1954-55. Even though Davy died at the end of the series, he was resurrected the following season for two more programs based on Crockett legends. The five shows were then combined, reedited, and released theatrically as two feature films, "Davy Crockett, King of the Wild Frontier" and "Davy Crockett and the River Pirates" (see page 14).

DISNEY CHANNEL TRIVIA

...Jenny Agutter, who has the title role in "Amy" (see page 18) got her American film start as an 11-year-old in Walt Disney's "Ballerina," about the Royal Danish Ballet. ...Roy Rogers and his wife Dale Evans (see page 8) have 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. They'll celebrate their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary this New Year's Eve.

Jenny Agutter as Amy helps deaf pupils

Thanksgiving brings families together for turkey, trimmings and talk! This season, add a new ingredient to your after-dinner conversation. Watch "The Thanksgiving Treasure," a nostalgic tale of friendship and caring, "Amy," the story of a woman who breaks with tradition to teach deaf children to talk, and "Five Mile Creek," the new western series which focuses on two women surviving in the rugged Australian outback. Then start your family talking with these suggested questions.

Liz Burch and Louise Clark play pioneers running a coach stop in "Five Mile Creek"

"THE THANKSGIVING TREASURE" Making New Friends...

Old Man Renquist is not easy to like, yet Addie becomes his friend. Have you ever known someone like him? What could you do to turn that person into a friend?

"FIVE MILE CREEK" Examining New Roles...

"Five Mile Creek" is a rousing saga of two women coping with frontier life on their own. How do you think things have changed for women since? What do you think are the benefits of women's expanding role? The disadvantages?

"AMY"

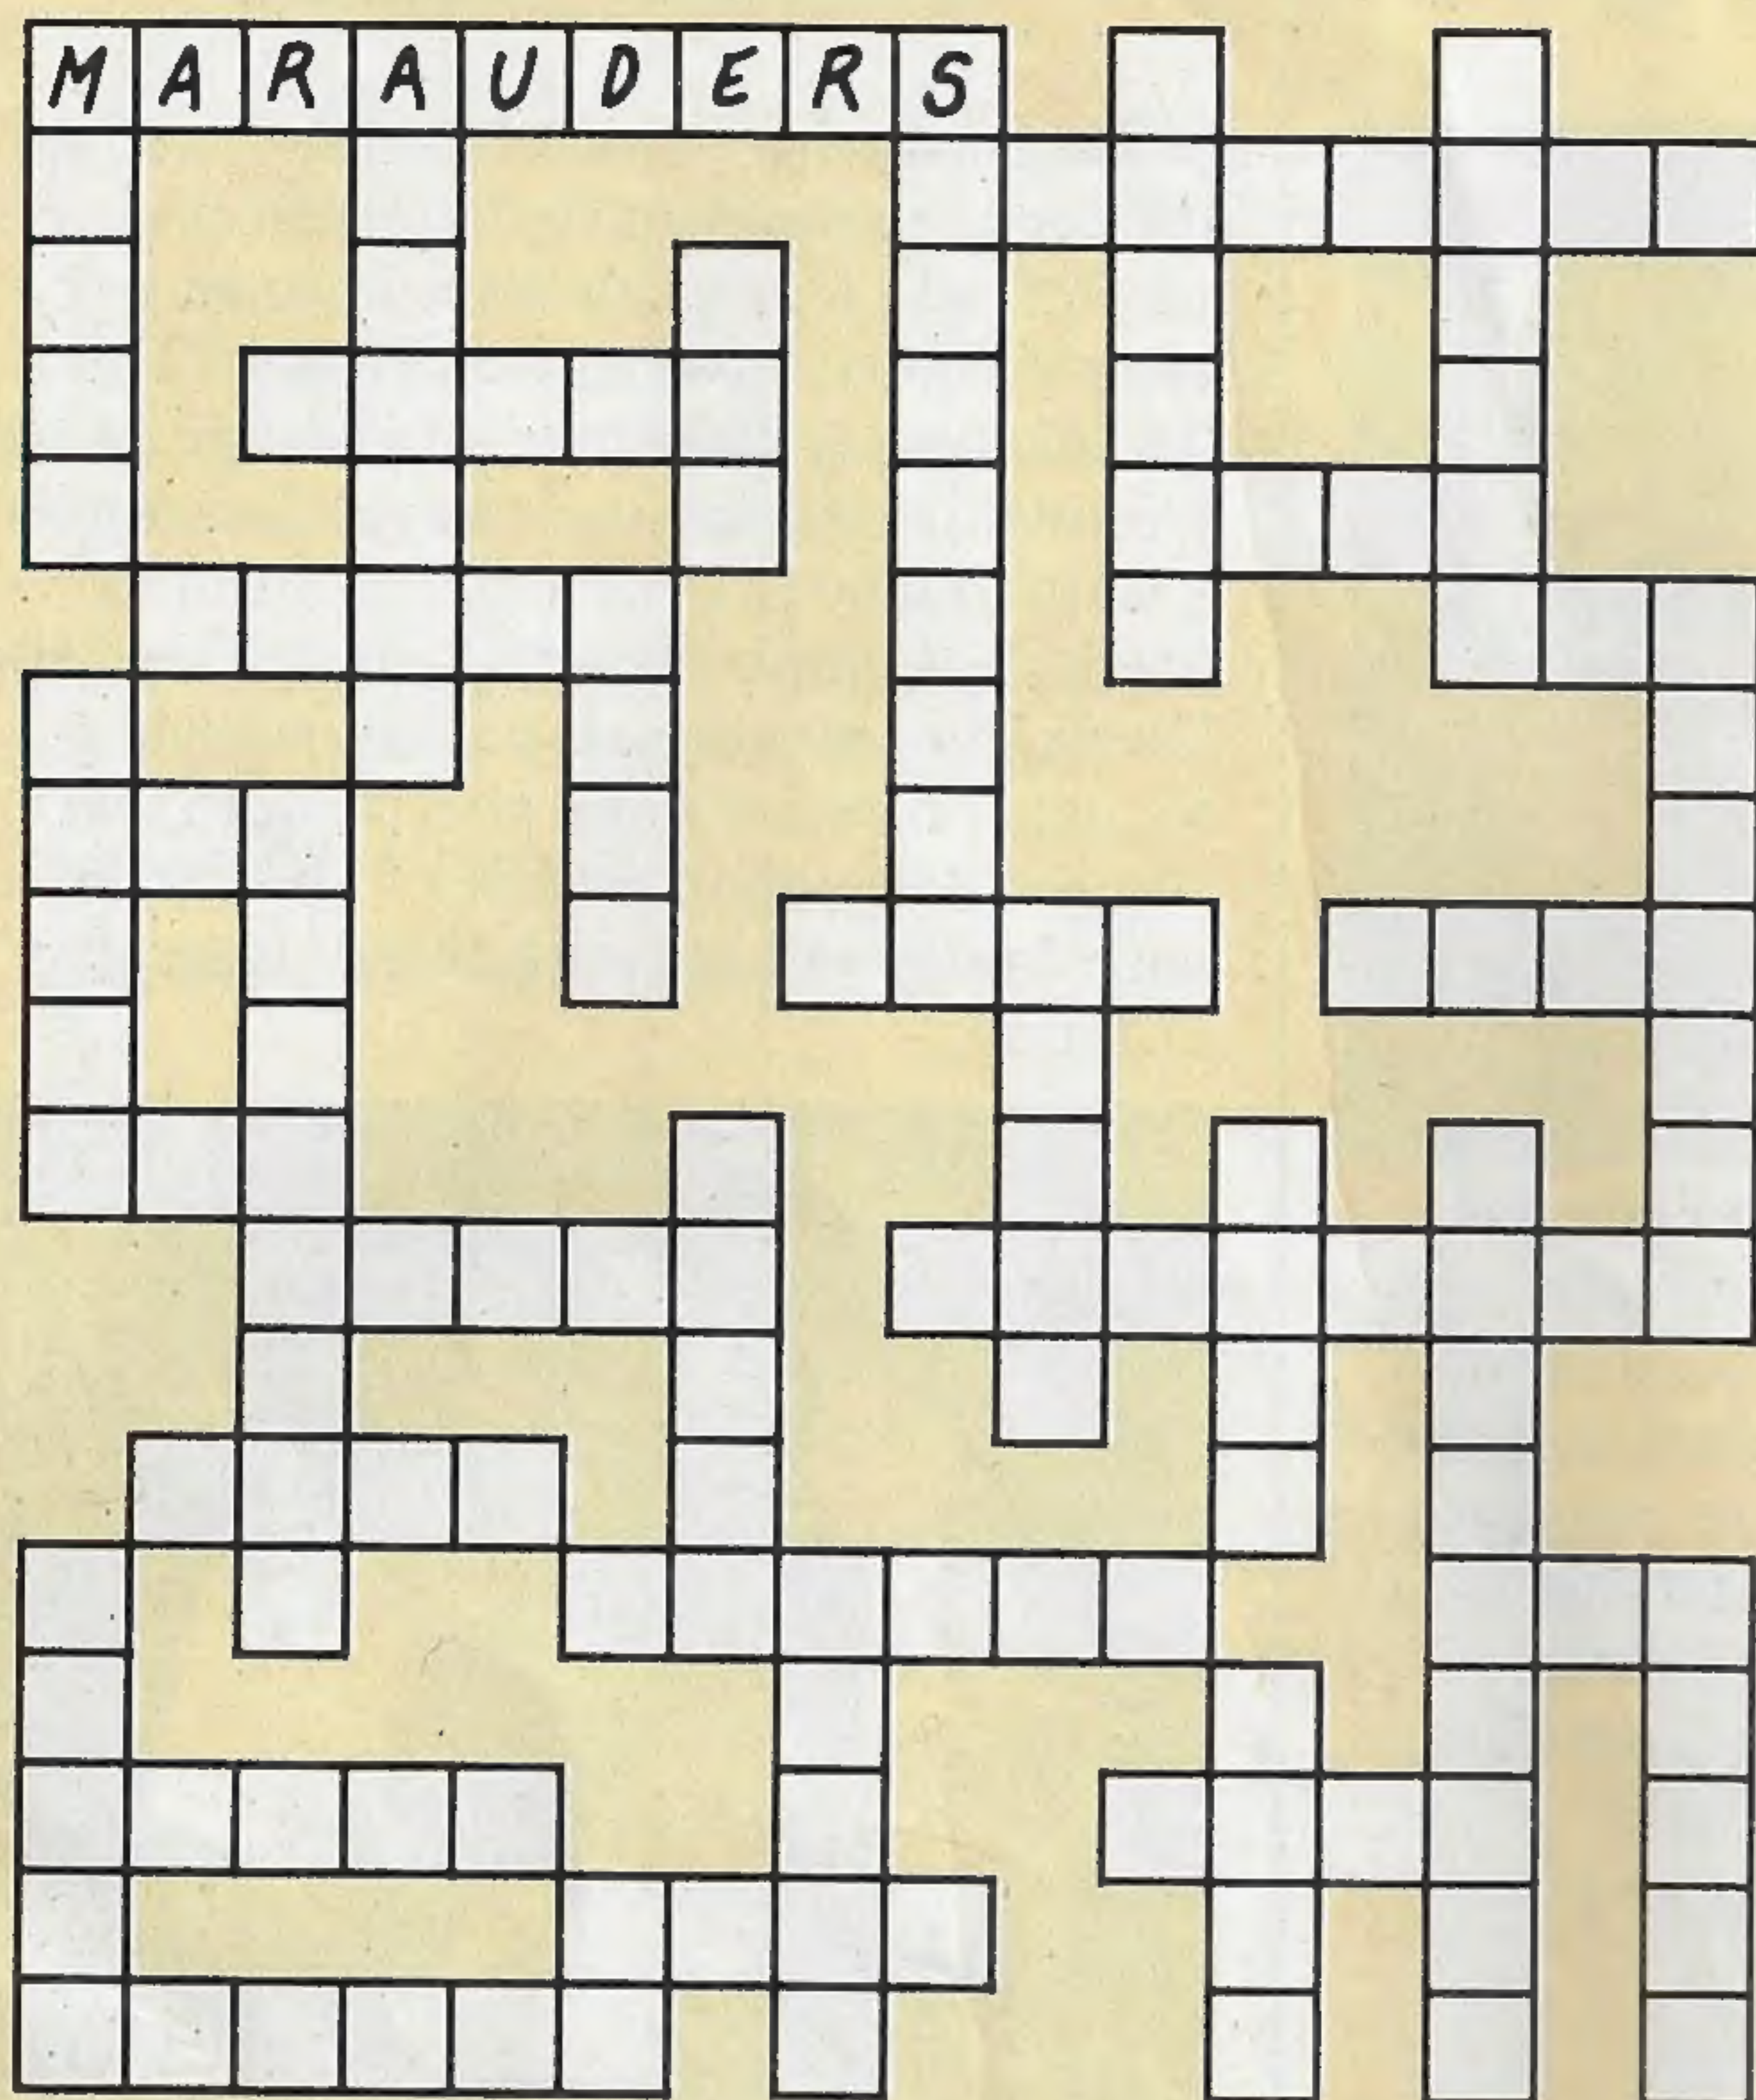

Gaining New Insights...

When Amy begins teaching she must overcome many prejudices about what her deaf students can learn and do. Have our attitudes about deafness and blindness changed since Amy's day? Do you think they need to change even more? Have you ever known a handicapped individual? What did you learn from your friendship?

Jazz Talk!

The language of jazz—it's as hot, cool, crazy and colorful as the music it describes! To decipher the ten jazz terms hidden in the cryptogram, substitute the correct letter for the one shown. Look for frequent usage of letters and letter patterns. (E, T, A, O, I and N are the most frequently used letters in English.) Hint: We've interchanged pairs of letters so once you've figured out one letter substitution, you automatically know a second one. For example, in the puzzle below O stands for P, and P for O, R stands for E and E for R. We've done part of the first one to get you off on the right foot. Have fun! (Code is on page 31.)
